

Sir Halley Stewart | Trust

At the trustees' meeting on 3rd October 2019, we said a fond 'thank you' to Professor Gordon Wilcock, who has served with great distinction as Chair of Trustees for the past four years and stood down at this meeting.

Fortunately, we will not be saying farewell as Gordon plans to stay on as a Trustee, serving on the Board and Medical Sub-Committee.

We are grateful for the many hours that Gordon has dedicated to the Trust and its beneficiaries and are delighted that he will continue to be part of the Sir Halley Stewart 'family'.

The new Chair of Trustees, Theresa Bartlett, has served as Vice Chair since 2017, and also sits on the Social Sub-Committee. As a great-great-granddaughter of the founder, Theresa understands well the friendly, family ethos of the Trust and is excited to be taking the helm as we prepare for our centenary in 2024.
